The FOREWORD

May this, the 1924 Narva, present a true portrayal of campus life in its past and present settings. May it serve as a book of fond memories for all to whom
Park is Alma Mater.

The DEDICATION

To the
Old Park
whose spirit of loyalty and service lives in the Park of to-day

In Memoriam

Park's Friend and Patron

Mrs. George A. Lawrence

Daughter of George S. Park

Died March 17, 1924

MRS. GEORGE A. LAWRENCE

One of Park's most beloved friends has been lost in the person of Mrs. Lawrence, formerly Ella Park, only child of Geo. S. Park. She was friend and benefactor to faculty and to students. Her name will stand forever on monuments erected in memory of her goodness and generosity.

WINTER SCENES

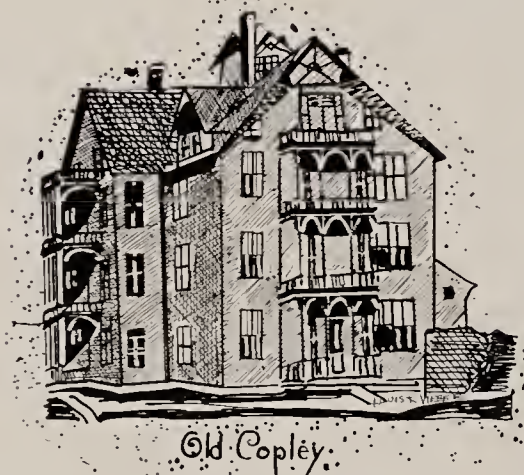

Park College 1875 to 1925

Old College Building

Old Copley

Snyder Home

Almost half a century has passed since the founding of Park College. This time has been one of continual, though often slow and uncertain progress. The changes on the campus and in the curriculum, and the growth of the college in general are probably not fully appreciated except by the older members of the Faculty and early alumni of the institution.

Once a rough, hilly spot of rocks and clay and woods, the campus has been transformed into beautiful terraces lined with shrubs and flowers. Buildings have risen, faithfully served their time, and given way to newer and finer structures as necessity has demanded and the means permitted. Practically all has been modified by the changing times except what is familiarly known as "the old Park spirit"—the spirit of endeavor, of progress, and of success, which still pervades the college atmosphere and inspires all to greater achievement in scholarship, forensics, athletics and in all Christian endeavor.

In 1837 Col. George S. Park, a pioneer of the early west, settled on the present site, of Parkville, and with the hope of starting a great commercial center, laid out the village now known as Parkville. It was also the dream of Col. Park to found an institution for the education of needy students and for this purpose, in 1851, he reserved a portion of his land. The slavery question and the war that followed brought trouble sometimes into this section and the idea had to be abandoned for several years, for the Presbyterian Board, to which Col. Park applied for aid, was not able to help him with his project. During that time, when mob law ruled high, Col. Park's life was often endangered because of his liberal attitude toward the question of slavery. As the owner of the "Parkville Luminary," a paper of considerable influence, Col. Park suffered the loss of his press at the hands of a mob which threw it into the Missouri River in 1855.

About the year 1875, Rev. E. B. Sherwood, a pioneer Presbyterian pastor, discovered a young educator, Rev. John A. McAfee, in a small town in Kansas, who had worked his way through college and who wished to give his life to aiding the youth of the country to secure an education. It was an unusual pleasure and opportunity for Mr. Sherwood, later President of the Board of Trustees of Park College, to bring together early in the year 1875 the two men, Col. George S. Park and Dr. John A. McAfee. The result of this meeting was the founding of "Park College for Training Christian Workers."

A large hotel, which stood west of the railway station, and one hundred acres of land, gifts of Col. Park, composed the original physical equipment of the institution. Work was begun at once, on April 12, 1875, and the hotel, known as the "Old College Building," or "No. 1," was transformed into a combination dormitory, class room building, office quarters, dining hall and kitchen, for use until more room could be provided. There the "Original Seventeen" students attended their first classes on May 12, 1875. There the Park College Family originated from which has developed the family work system of today. Before 1900 old "No. 1" was remodeled, renamed Woodward Hall in memory of Rev. George S. Woodward, a former pastor of the Parkville church, and used as a dormitory for men. In 1908 the ground was sold and the stone materials of the building used to construct the present Woodward Hall at the north end of the campus.

Although the actual work of the college began in 1875, the official charter from the state was not granted until the first class was graduated in 1879. During the four years that had passed, the college had grown so rapidly that there was an urgent need for more room. After the destruction by fire in 1883 of an old warehouse used as a dormitory for men, work was begun on Copley Hall. This building, which formerly stood on the terrace southeast of Alumni Hall, was completed in 1884 and named for one of the most loyal supporters of the institution, Josiah Copley. For thirty-five years "Old Copley" sheltered one hundred and two men each year. In 1919, through the generosity of Mrs. Mary C. Thaw, a splendid new stone structure, Copley-Thaw, was completed, being erected in memory of Mrs. Thaw's father, Josiah Copley, and husband, William Thaw. The old building was torn down and passed into memory. The present Copley-Thaw was erected over the spot where formerly stood Snyder Hall, a dormitory for women.

By the gifts of land and money from Col. Park and Mrs. Cyrus McCormick, a new chapel building was finished in 1887, and named McCormick Chapel. This building is second in age only to the Park House and in its long life has perhaps served in a greater and more varied capacity than any campus structure. It was also one of the first products of student labor. The bricks were made in the college brickyard on the site of the athletic field of today; the lime, sand, and stones were taken from the hills of the college land and most of the mechanical labor was furnished by college students.

Bergen Hall

Scott House

C.R. Westcott Store & Office
Bldg.

The exact replica of Bergen Hall is seen in the present "Old Carpenter Shop" below Nickel terrace. After its completion, in 1887, the hall stood above the old brick yard, opposite the present "Faculty Row" and was used for Academy dormitory and recitation rooms. Later the materials were transported to the present location of the carpenter shop and used in the construction and operation of a planing mill.

Another ancient landmark, now removed, was a little parsonage situated on the terrace west of the chapel. Scott House, named for the first young man to graduate from Park, Winfield T. Scott, was the home of several notable men connected with the institution.

In 1890, the outlook for the future was exceedingly dark as the college mourned at the graves of both Col. Park and Dr. John A. McAfee. Within one week during Commencement season of that year the two who had given their utmost toward the success of the institution passed to a well earned rest. The responsibility of the work then descended upon their families and succeeding administrators, who with equal faith and trust carried on the work of Christian education.

The spirit of Colonel and Mrs. Park lived on in their daughter, the late Mrs. George A. Lawrence. Park has lost its dearest friend by the passing of Mrs. Lawrence, March 17, 1924. Through the interest and gifts of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence the water works system of the college became the efficient system that it is today. The college heating plant and former lighting plant, built on the site of the "Parkville Luminary" building, was also their gift. Their generosity is evidenced further in the beautiful home of our President, in the lately remodeled Park House, Mrs. Lawrence's girlhood home, and in our handsome library furnishings which their gifts completed. Mrs. Lawrence lives in the hearts of many students, alumni and Faculty members, for through smaller gifts and more intimate help she has contributed to the success of almost every organization and every department in the college.

The greatest and most enduring monument to the student labor of the early days is Mackay Hall, the administration building. Work was begun in 1886 and continued as long as the receipt of gifts and money allowed. After years of patient toil and waiting, the building was occupied March 13, 1893.

Headquarters for the Family work department was formerly the E. R. Westcott Store and Office Building which is now the College Press Building. The self-help department was permanently established in Labor Hall upon its completion in 1906.

Two important buildings on the campus were the generous gifts of the late Anthony Dey of New York City. The Charles Smith Scott Astronomical Observatory was erected on Observatory Hill in 1898 and Waverly Hospital, situated on the hill above the site of old Sherwood Hall, met a very great need upon its completion in 1912.

One of the finest school libraries in the state was provided in 1923 by the completion of the old Carnegie library building of 1908. The Wakefield Science Hall, when completed, will furnish excellent class rooms and laboratories for more thorough study of the physical sciences.

The publications of the college have been representative of the various activities and phases of college life for both students and Faculty. The oldest of them all, The Record, was first issued in 1879, the year in which Park was officially chartered by the state. Since that date, The Record has regularly reached many thousands of friends and kept them informed of the progress of the institution.

The Stylus was first published in 1896 with our present History professor, Roy V. Magers, as its first editor-in-chief. For several years the student publication was a monthly resume of events edited by the senior class. In recent years, however, the paper has been edited by the class in Journalism under the direction of a popularly elected editor and business manager and the head of the Department of English.

The Park Review was edited and published by the Faculty of the college and was composed of editorials, book reviews and papers by Faculty members on literary, historical, philosophical and educational topics. This paper, under the editorship of Dr. Thomas G. Burt, then head of the Department of History, was first published in 1899, and was continued for several years.

A record was made in the publication of the first Narva which has not been equaled. The matter of publishing the annual was presented to the student body on February 22, 1901, and the complete book was ready for distribution at Commencement week of that year. The name, Narva, was the suggestion of Dr. Charles H. Crooks, '01, now a medical missionary in Lampang, Siam. As the first Narva was a celebration of the silver anniversary of the college—so is this, the latest, an attempt to portray a half century of college history by a Golden Jubilee edition.

Since the first Commencement exercises in 1879, when four students received the A.B. degree, forty-five classes have been graduated into the various fields of work in the world. Of approximately thirteen hundred alumni, twenty per cent have entered the ministerial and missionary work, both in home and foreign fields; twenty-five per cent have served and are serving in the educational field, and ten per cent are in the business world. Three graduates are college presidents, and thirty-two others are college professors. The profession of law accounts for twenty of the number. Physicians and medical students, about fifty in number, are serving the world in various countries in every possible way. It is well known that Park students are scattered all over the world, but this is more strikingly apparent when it is found that the alumni are now living lives of service in forty-six states and territories, and twenty-two foreign countries.

From the Park College of 1875, housed in the Old College Building, has grown the Park of today, housed in eighteen buildings. Her girls have homes in the six girls' dormitories—Sunset Hall, Gillette House, Eleanor Chesnut Hall, Alumni Hall and Terrace Cottage. Her boys live in Copley-Thaw Hall and Woodward Hall. In each dormitory there is a Park mother who helps wonderfully in binding the ties of the Park Family.

The office of President in Park tests the mettle of men and Park has been fortunate in her Presidents, for they have stood the test. Her first President, Dr. John A. McAfee, was succeeded in 1902 by his son, Lowell M. McAfee, who served until June, 1913. Dr. A. L. Wolfe, present Professor of Latin and Greek, served as acting President until the arrival of our present President, Dr. Frederick W. Hawley, in December, 1915. The students of today know Dr. Hawley as a fair-minded, earnest man who, with all the duties of a Park President, is never too busy to help solve personal problems. Each student feels that he has a true friend in our President.

These men have given the best of their lives to Park and their reward lies in the knowledge of work well done and in the winning of a place in the hearts of students, Faculty and friends.

The lives of the members of the Faculty of Park have been lives of service. Their hands have been guiding hands to the students and touch of personal interest has never been lacking. The scholastic standing of Park and the world's esteem for her constitute a silent tribute to her Faculty and administrators. The Faculty of today is a part of the Park Family and this great Family, in all its parts, Student Body, Faculty, and Administration, is working forward for the "Glory of Old Park."

In the spring of 1879, the Alumni Association of Park College was organized by the first graduating class. It has grown from a membership of four to one of a thousand three hundred and twenty-five. Those who have received honorary degrees from Park and a few who have been elected honorary members are considered members of the Association also.

The object of the Alumni Association as stated in the first constitution is "to assist and advance the interests of Park College and to cherish feelings of brotherhood and friendship among its graduates." In addition to fulfilling the original object, the Association has enlarged its aim and reaches out into a wider field of usefulness and activity. It strives to keep in touch with each member, thus serving as an information bureau at the service of its members, the College, and the cause of Christian education in general.

The executive board handles the business of the Association. The Annual Meeting is held each year on the day before Commencement, and, together with the banquet which follows, furnishes the opportunity for receiving the graduating class, reviewing old experiences and forming new friendships.

Colors—Maroon and White

In the fall of 1919, one hundred and six freshmen began their college career at Park. Perhaps the reason that they lost the tie-up and the barrel rush was that they were new and were not expecting the tricks of the wiser sophomores. However, they regained their freshman dignity in the spring by winning the frosh-soph debate in April and the Verrill Declamatory Contest in May. They were drawn together by inter-class basketball games, class prayer meetings and two class feeds.

Their sophomore year was marked by the winning of two events of outstanding importance—the inter-class basketball championship and the frosh-soph debate. The latter was a tradition-breaking feat.

As juniors the class of '23 maintained their high scholastic standard and held a prominent place in forensic activities. The 1922 Narva, which the class published, and the Junior-Senior Banquet were perhaps the most noteworthy accomplishments of the year.

The class of '23 was represented in all college activities during its senior year. The editor-in-chief and business manager of The Stylus, the president of the Forensic Council and Pi Kappa Delta were members of this class. It was represented on the inter-collegiate debating squad, basketball squad, glee club and choir and took the leading part in procuring a student body constitution.

One year away from Park finds the members of this class in various occupations. Out of the sixty-eight who were graduated, there are forty-one teachers, fifteen graduate students, nine in business, one in the missionary field and two married. They are still striving to live up to their motto, B Square.

The following, whose pictures do not appear, received diplomas: Wilson Hutchison, Marie Lively, Jeannie Blacklock, Walter Porter, Janet Stone, Rachel Stanger, Mrs. Alice Piper Brown, Clark Foster, Boyd Palmer, Ruth Piper, Ruth Wood.

Motto—"Our Anchor Holds"

Class Hymn—"Confidence"

"We live in deeds, not years; in thoughts, not breaths;
In feelings, not in figures on a dial.
We should count time by heart throbs,
He most lives
Who thinks most, feels the noblest, acts the best."

It seems but yesterday that we, as freshmen, embarked upon our scholastic voyage through Park College. We were a carefree lot, as all freshmen are, yet we received our share of hard knocks, too. The first few weeks were enlivened by the victory over the Class of '23 in the annual Barrel Rush. However, the sophomores took their revenge the following spring when they won the judges' decision in the Freshman-Sophomore Debate.

During our sophomore year our guiding star again failed us for we were forced to resign the victor's title to the freshmen in both the Barrel Rush and the Freshman-Sophomore Debate. The humiliation of these defeats was somewhat alleviated in that we won the Class Basketball Championship.

The Junior-Senior Banquet was the most notable and successful accomplishment of our junior year.

'Tis true, we have not always topped the Collegiate Honor Roll, yet our scholastic record has been one of which we need not be ashamed. We have been well represented on collegiate debate squads and two of Park's orators were chosen from our class.

As we approach Commencement Day, we are filled more and more with a deep and sincere appreciation for what Park has done for us. We are grateful for the friendships which have bound us together. When we leave this campus and continue our way through life, may it be said of us, "'Our Anchor Holds' in loyalty to our Alma Mater through service to our fellowmen."

Motto—"Truth and Progress, the Spirit of '25"

As Freshmen we were green, of course, but even then we were able to make the Sophomores cower before us by winning the barrel rush and by causing close competition in basketball. In the spring we won the fresh-soph debate by a 5 to 0 decision after which no Sophomore dared speak with condescension to a Freshman.

Although our Sophomore year was rather uneventful we won the Verrill Declamatory contest in April. We also supplied a large percent of the intercollegiate basketball men and debaters. The state orator for this year was chosen from our ranks.

This year we are supplying seven of the eleven intercollegiate debaters. As upperclassmen we are enjoying the fruits of a youth well spent for early in our career we learned the wisdom of putting first things first. As a result our scholastic attainments are among the most brilliant on record. For three years we have led in scholarship and at the same time made an enviable record in all forms of outside activities.

We have weathered our storms, overcome our disappointments, gloried in our victories and persevered in our loyalty to class and to college.

In short, we are a most remarkable class!

Song—"Faith of Our Fathers"

On September 11, 1922, showers of blessings, in the form of ninety-five very fresh, very lively, very hopeful young things, descended on the Park College Campus. The fact that this was an unusual group was disclosed during the Chapel hour of the very first day of school when the Dean announced that the Class of '26 was in every way an exceptionally fine and promising class.

On September 25th the upper-classmen presented a document in which there were some hints of goodly advice and many rules. With wisdom beyond their years the Class of '26 took the good advice and soon learned that to obey the rules was also wise.

This class was soon organized, choosing for its president George Fishburn, a very able man. Under his enthusiastic leadership, the Class of '26 marched straight through a year of victory.

The first contest from which the class emerged victorious was the Freshman-Sophomore Barrel Rush. As a result of this victory, the freshmen rules were removed on November 31.

The Class of '26 then proceeded to show their prowess in basketball. From an abundance of good material, a team was selected which won the championship in the inter-class tournament.

As the inter-collegiate debate season came on, the Class of '26 showed its loyal support of college activities by constructing fine big bonfires for victory celebrations.

In the spring the Class of '26 again knew victory when their debaters won the decision of the judges in the Annual Freshman-Sophomore Debate. So ended the first triumphant year of the Class of '26.

In the fall of 1923, Ralph Jennings was elected president. He is now acting in that capacity and is earnest and dependable in carrying on the work started.

On October, nineteen chosen men pulled twenty-five hundred pounds of struggling freshmen two successive times into the Platte River, thus making themselves again victors in the inter-class struggle.

The class was defeated in the inter-class basketball tournament.

The scholarship has been raised in the past year. One finds very few sophomores on the "poor and failing" list while on the other hand a large number of them do excellent work.

The members of the Class of '26 feel that they have spent two very happy and profitable years at Park, and look forward toward the acquiring in the two years to come, of all those worthwhile things which are to be gained in one's college life.

September 11, 1923, marked a new epoch in the history of Park College. Sophomores and upper-classmen congregated at the Parkville Union Station to take under their wings the customary throng of shy, timid youth. The warmth of the September sun had engulfed the group in an atmosphere of dull silence, as they watched the rapidly approaching passenger train. The giant locomotive, an emblem of power, came thundering in and discharged one hundred thirty-five (135) "pusillanimous" frosh, representing the very elements of strength, determination, vivacity and comeliness.

The first feature of the Class of '27 is that the members were chosen from a list of applicants numbering approximately 1000, and one-third were high school Valedictorians. With this valuable recommendation as the foremost feature the class has furnished several leaders in the college.

When the Dean announced the first semester honor roll for scholarship, he revealed the fact that a freshman girl had made the highest average.

The orchestra was in need of an able accompanist when school began and a freshman girl was chosen for the position. In addition several freshmen have been listed as players in the orchestra.

The membership of the Masquers was increased and a number of freshmen accepted as members. In the plays already given, the class has been well represented.

Fortunately we have a representative body of executives in our group. A boy and a girl each hold a state C. E. office; two of our boys have executive positions on the local Y. M. C. A. organization, while one holds an office in the State Y. M. C. A. Council. One girl holds an executive position on the local Y. W. C. A. organization.

Since Park's colors are known so widely because of her forensic activities it would be well to mention that two boys and two girls of the Class of '27 are members of the inter-collegiate debate squad. The work of our freshman debaters is too well known for ordinary mention.

In athletics the freshmen have emerged from two events with the laurel leaves of victory perched upon their brows. The first event was the class basketball tournament which our well organized team won. In the second event, the Thanksgiving cross-country race, freshmen took first and second places.

In addition to all of these qualities and qualifications, the freshman class excels in youth and beauty!

"If one can dream and not make dreams his master" let him go with us during our four years at "dear old Park."

Student Body Officers

HENRY C. SALVETER.....	President
BERNARD MELAND.....	Vice-President
THELMA GATES.....	Secretary-Treasurer
ASHBY STEELE.....	Yell Leader

Upon the Student Body officers falls the responsibility of maintaining peace and order within the group and also between it as an organization and the administration. This was especially well accomplished by the Student Body officers of 22-23. We wish to express our appreciation here for their hard work and untiring interest in us all. Henry Salveter as president deserves commendation for his success in steering the college ship of state safely to anchor. His work was not always easy. We will remember him as a true statesman.

Bernard Meland never failed in the performance of the duties of Vice-President. He was always willing to assume command of college affairs when called upon by the president, and fulfilled his office in a manner entirely satisfactory at all times.

To Thelma Gates we owe our thanks for a well-kept record of events and wise custody of the Student Body funds.

Ashby Steele will always be remembered for the gymnastics which called forth our pep on all occasions. He was a live yell-leader and never failed to enthuse us when he called for the "Old Park Yell." "That's rotten! Yell it!" And we did!

Student Body Officers

ALONZO P. PEEKE.....	President
JOHN MOORE.....	Vice-President
MARY LEFKER.....	Secretary-Treasurer
MARION ELLIOTT	Yell Leader

To Alonzo Peeke we give much of the credit for the success of the year. It isn't always an easy thing to stand between a fair-minded Faculty and an energetic, fun-loving Student Body. "Lonny" constantly poured oil on the troubled waters and all was calm. He was loved by all and will be long remembered by the 1923-1924 students.

John Moore was Lonny's able assistant as Vice-President. John always stood for the highest ideals of Park. Debater as he was, he was always ready for any situation which might arise.

The Secretary-Treasurer has to guard the family pocketbook and keep a close record of all the activities of importance. Mary Lefker attended to these duties as only Mary could.

Marion Elliott only needed to jump the railing in the chapel and we were instantly on our feet and the yells shook the chapel building. And oh! those pep programs. We have no complaint of our yell-leader and his assistants!

With the inauguration of the Student Council came a heavier responsibility upon the Student Body officers. They formed the nucleus about which the Council was built, and so bore the brunt of all matters of student government.

The Student Council

The Student Council, as provided for in the constitution adopted by the student body in 1923, is an organization of twenty-two members composed of the student body officers,—president, vice-president, secretary-treasurer, and cheer leader, and one representative from each of the literary organizations of the college and academy, the four college classes, the Y. M. C. A., the Y. W. C. A., the Stylus, the Forensic Council, and the Athletic Association. The student body president is automatically president of the council and chairman of the Executive Committee.

The council is the immediate instrument of the student body and administration for adjusting various problems and questions related to college and campus activities.

The Cu Cu Club is a representative group of men which generates pep within the student body. The original "Cu Cu" was organized in 1921 and each year since that time the student body president has selected two men from each literary organization to serve as "pepsters" on the club.

The Cu Cus stage pep programs, send debaters off to victory and serve as general keepers of Park's royal pep mascot, "the White Mule". This year the canary and wine clown suits which were added to the equipment of the club undoubtedly helped in arousing pep. The Cu Cus in their "dress" suits make an animated and colorful scene as they lead the student body in yells.

The primary purpose of the Y. M. has been to lead men to Christ as their personal Saviour; to unify the student body in its purpose and action; to promote growth in Christian character and fellowship and training in Christian character.

Some of its practical services have taken form in the meeting of the new students as they come on the campus and acquainting them with the campus life; in the management of Lyceum programs, summer Y. M. conferences, conductance of a book exchange, study classes on vital life issues, 1918 S. A. T. C. service under Dean Sanders.

In the year 1924-25 we expect to find a still larger growth in the activities of the association in all its phases: life work, gospel team, membership, meetings, social, world fellowship, book exchange, Bible.

The Park College Y. W. C. A. was organized in 1912 and includes both college and academy women.

The year 1923-24 will always stand out in the history of the Y. W. C. A., because of the completion of the Frances Clinton Hut which has aided in deepening the fellowship of the members of the organization. With Marie Farmer as president, the association has indeed experienced a successful year.

The "Y" looks forward to another successful year under the presidency of Bonnie Jennings.

The Association of Ministerial Students

ROY I. ALDRICH.....	President
HUGH JONES	Vice-President
WILLIAM CLARK	Secretary-Treasurer
CHARLES SCHERMERHORN	Censor

The purpose of the Ministerial Association is to bind together for fellowship and Christian service all Park students who are preparing for the ministry.

Meetings are held every two weeks on Sunday evenings after the regular church service. The meetings consist of devotional services, informal discussions, trial sermons by the students, or talks from some faculty member or visitor.

Members of the Ministerial Association take an active part in local and extension field work. Several of the members fill the pulpits of churches of the surrounding communities. Some are on gospel teams which carry the message of Christ to missions and to the young people of various churches.

The men of the Association know Christ as their personal Saviour. They believe they have been called to preach the gospel. Realizing the need today for preaching Christ they hope through the work of the Association to lead other men into the gospel ministry.

The Student Volunteer Band

OFFICERS 1923-24

IRENE SCHERMERHORN	President
ROSSELL COMES	Vice-President
PAUL GREEN	Secretary
LAWRENCE BERG	Treasurer

The volunteer band was organized at Park when Robert P. Wilder and John R. Mott were visiting colleges of the country and working to establish a definite volunteer movement among students. This organization is one of the oldest on the campus.

The volunteer group has had a growing Christian influence and its forty-five members are represented in all the various activities of the campus.

The college student who signs the Declaration Card expresses his desire to be associated with the national movement and becomes a volunteer.

The Declaration Card reads, "It is my purpose if God permit to become a foreign missionary."

Academy students who are looking forward to service on the foreign field may become associate members.

The purpose of the Volunteer Band is to bring all students who are planning to become foreign missionaries together in a common fellowship in order that their purpose may be strengthened.

Through the Volunteer Band students are brought into contact with similar groups of other colleges for mutual strength and fellowship.

Missionary education and instruction concerning definite fields and professions furnish valuable information for the volunteers and it is their work to put the challenge of the missionary enterprise before the other students of the campus and to meet together in prayer that the great work for the Master might be given consideration by every individual.

Lucerne Club

On a dusky afternoon many years ago, in Paris, a mob tried to take the palace by force. A small company of Swiss guards from Lucerne were called to defend it but the mob was too strong for them and they died—rather than surrender. The deed was almost forgotten until one day an artist, Thorwaldsen, decided to commemorate the event by a stone carving. He chose the side of a mountain on the shores of Lake Lucerne. He worked long and hard at his task, and at last from the white rock wall, a dying lion appeared. A spear had pierced its back but it fell on its weapons, defending even in death the lilies of France. The lion of Lucerne is a symbol today of the bravery of that tiny company of Swiss guards.

Many years later in 1896 a group of Park College girls gathered to form a literary club. They had formerly belonged to Cheever Society for both men and women, but when it was finally disbanded, these girls, feeling the need of something to take its place, organized Lucerne Club. They chose their name from the Lake of Lucerne, their emblem from the Lion of Lucerne, their colors from the blue waters of the lake, and their flower from a tiny blue flower which grows on its banks. For their motto, they chose, "Scientia, Eloquentia, et Amicitia". Miss Adah Brokaw was elected the first President.

Lucerne's brother club, Lowell, was organized at the same time, and with the help of each other, of the President and Faculty, and above all with the help of God, these clubs have advanced and have become stronger and stronger until they are as we know them today. Lowells and Lucernes are proud of their records and are ever striving to keep their standards on high, by each one's doing his best in whatever special field his talent happen to lie. In victory or defeat, in work or play,

"To the dear Blue and Blue
We shall ever be true,
For it carries us all
Back to dear Cheever Hall
Where we ever long to be:
We have such good times together
In all sorts of weather;
We will always remember
The dear old Blue and Blue."

Lowell Club

Lowell Club was founded on January 10, 1896, when certain members of the disbanded societies of Park, Cheever and Bullard met in Cheever Hall and formed an organization with the purpose "to develop excellence in oratory, debate and athletics; to promote good fellowship; to familiarize ourselves with parliamentary procedure." Something of the spirit of the founders and pioneers of Lowell may be caught from their motto, which, with a constantly changing stream of members, has remained unchanged through a period of twenty-eight years. That motto, short and to the point, is "D-I-G". A few weeks after its organization Lowell Club united with its present sister club, Lucerne, and the combined clubs selected blue and blue for the colors of the L. L. C.'s.

That Lowell Club has to some extent fulfilled its purpose as quoted from the preamble of the constitution is shown by the fact that since the foundation of the third men's club, Orion, in 1913, Lowell has won thirty of fifty-five inter-club contests, including baseball, basketball, track, cross-country, oratory and debate. Since the publication of the last Narva (1922) the record of Lowell has been no less exceptional. In 1922-23 honors in oratory, cross-country and baseball went to the wearers of the Blue and Blue, while in debate Lowell received four of the votes of nine judges, Orion received three and Parchevard two. Of four of the 1923-24 contests held previous to this writing Lowell has won three—first place in cross-country, first in debate, and first, second and third in oratory. Victory in these contests may mean much or little but each participant is a better man for having tried.

This activity in inter-club contests has not led to the neglect of the weekly programs, those all-important gatherings which finally determine the strength or weakness of a literary organization. Through the Board of Censors an efficient means of providing interesting programs is found and members are given not only opportunity to exercise the talent they may have but also encouragement to undertake new lines of work.

Much more might be said of the purposes and ideals of Lowell Club, but they are all directed to one and the highest goal which a literary organization at Park might have—that is to make of each member a more worthy Park student.

Calliopean Literary Society

Originally the literary activities at Park College were carried on by three coeducational organizations, the Park, Cheever, and Bullard Literary Societies. It came to be the general opinion that more could be accomplished if the girls and boys had separate societies so in 1898 the original three were disbanded and four new societies formed, two for girls and two for boys. Only this much of the old coeducational system remained: the societies were formed into "brother and sister" societies and as brothers and sisters the members have ever since been the truest of friends and the most loyal of allies in all the pleasures and activities of college life.

The Calliopean Literary Society was organized at that early time. The name is derived from that of Calliope, the muse of epic poetry, the most noble and heroic figure of all the muses. Her chosen color, gold, symbol of true worth, is the color of the Marcenial rose from which her emblem is taken. Her "brother" society is the Parchevard Literary Society, organized in the same year. The combined name of these two is Parchevard-Calliopean Literary Societies; the colors, purple and gold; the emblem, the diamond. These societies are well united, working together, playing together, and learning together.

In endeavoring to uphold the glory of her name, Calliopean has wrought in the organization something of the virility, clear-sightedness and love of beauty which we admire so much in the ancient Greeks. She has also pledged herself to maintain a high standard of loyalty to the College and all for which it stands. Each member strives to uphold these ideals throughout her college course.

On Monday nights the girls meet in Park Hall, the home of the Parchevard-Calliopean Literary Societies. This year we cooperated with the Parchevards in refurnishing the hall with upholstered wicker furniture. Joint sessions and meetings of the two societies are held there.

At the meetings literary and musical programs are given. Talent within the society is used and developed. Before the formal meeting begins and during the intermission before business sessions, the girls have time to make and to strengthen friendships that will last, in memory or reality, throughout a lifetime.

Calliopean enters wholeheartedly into all the phases of college life. Her girls stand high in scholarship. She is always well represented in all college activities. Progress is her slogan and each year brings material for progress as the new girls come into the society, bringing with them new life, new hope and new aspirations.

The outlook for Calliopean in the future is indeed bright.

Parchevard Literary Society

A little over a quarter of a century ago a band of men representing congenial elements in the three original literary societies of Park banded together to form a new organization. The first societies were composed of both men and women, but in the new societies the men and women were separated. However, since the founders of this organization did not wish to give up the old traditions and names altogether, they took the name of Parchevard, derived from the old names, Park, Cheever and Bullard Literary Societies. They allied themselves with Calliopean as their sister society, took as their motto, "Practice, Perseverance, and Success," and as their joint colors, Purple and Gold.

Out of the meager beginning of this society has developed the Parchevard of today. Each member assumed his responsibility in making Parchevard a real literary society. Soon a bare room was finished and a hardwood floor was carefully laid by the members. From year to year the hall has been improved and new furnishings added.

During the last two years Parchevard has tasted of both the cup of victory and that of defeat, but throughout each year she has shown herself capable of winning her share of victories and distinctions.

Last year a loyal Parchevard, Kingsley Given, won first honors for Park in the Regional Pi Kappa Delta Oratorical Contest. One inter-club debate was won and one was lost. In basketball the purple and gold team won the inter-club series,—but lost in baseball. In the inter-club Field Meet, Parchevard won by a wide margin.

Opening of the school year, 1923-1924, found each member of the society filled with renewed interest and determination. The Annual Parchevard Banquet in Kansas City during the first week of school, gave exemplification of a spirit of loyalty and unity within the society. Here it was that the plans and goals of the year were outlined by the President. Parchevard was to have its full quota of new men and plans for refurnishing the hall were definitely laid out. Sign-up came, bringing a new membership of strong and loyal men. The president organized forces for raising money for their hall program, and before the first semester expired, $350.00 had been raised. Debate and oratory were begun, and Parchevard was unfortunate in losing both inter-club debates. Two of her men participated in the local Harry S. Jewett Oratorical Contest.

The basketball season was a great success for Parchevard, for it closed once more with the team as inter-club champions.

The inter-club baseball, tennis and track contests of this year are contests toward which Parchevard looks with great interest. She hopes that in these contests she may acquit herself well and close victoriously one of her most successful years.

However, Parchevard inter-club events play only a secondary role. She stands for a broader spirit—for the Park spirit, and she has claim upon men who stand high as leaders of the activities of the student body of the college.

Parchevard is proud of the fellowship and companionship which exists among her members. Above all her accomplishments, Parchevard holds dearest these things—fellowship and maintenance of ideals.

Aurora Club

No one who has seen the dawn of the hills of Park, who has seen the eastern clouds rose-tinted and glowing, who has seen the morning star in the sky beyond the college smoke stack, who has watched the mist rise from the Old Missouri, who has rejoiced in the beginning of a new day of fellowship and opportunity at Park, can wonder that when a band of Park girls organized a new literary society in the fall of 1913, they chose for their name, Aurora, goddess of the dawn.

Thirty-two girls were charter members of the new club which chose for its colors the buff and green of the outdoor world, for its flower the lotus blossom, for its emblem the Egyptian scarab, and for its motto, "Optimis Conari". Aurora helped her brother club, Orion, decorate and furnish Lawrence Hall, where the weekly meetings are held, making of the two old class rooms given for the purpose, a hall and a home of which to be proud.

Succeeding years have marked the dawning of opportunity for many girls because of this group and the ideals upon which they founded Aurora. Year by year as she receives into membership new girls who desire to become bearers of the light, Aurora gives and gains new strength. Year by year she has come to the foreground in literary, scholastic, and religious fields. Her members have been active in forensics. Her programs have helped to develop latent power and have deepened appreciations. She has always held her scholastic standards high and the club may well be proud of the classroom record of her members. To the religious organizations on the campus, members of O. A. C. have given earnest Christian living and leadership. In all their efforts, they have tried to keep their motto steadily before them and have tried to strive for the highest.

Through the years, each day that dawns at Park finds a group of girls striving to be like the dawning in that it brings with it light and opportunity. And as morning dawns over the whole world it discovers those who have gone out from that group remembering her high ideals as they strive to give their highest service.

Orion Club

Delta Chapter

National Webster Literary Society

With a nucleus of men from both Lowell Club and Parchevard Society, Orion Club was organized in the fall of 1913 to care for the overflow from these clubs, since all students could not be admitted to the older clubs without making them too large. Aurora Club was founded at the same time and the two were joined as brother and sister clubs.

The Egyptian Scarab Beetle was adopted as their emblem, Nile green and the buff of the desert sands as their colors, the lotus flower as their flower, and the O. A. C. entwined as their monogram.

After flooring with hardwood and decorating their hall, the men of Orion entered competition with the Lowells and Parchevards. During these early years of her existence, Orion was handicapped in athletics, but the impetus of her forensic victories in 1916 has brought her ten debate victories out of thirteen contests. In 1919 she won her first oratorical victory, and continued to win for four consecutive contests. She has also won more than half of the tennis championships since she was organized.

Since the last publication of the Narva, Orion has held her own in athletics. The Parchevard Basketball Team won a victory after playing off a tie with Orion in 1923. By defeating Parchevard in baseball in the same year, Orion made possible the championship for the Lowell Club.

This year has shown Orion leading the other clubs in scholastic work, and scholarship. She has headed the list of men's clubs at each posting. Among the highest averages in the college, those of Orions have been in the majority.

Orion Club has a future to work for. With the fellowship and club loyalty enjoyed in the past, she will be able to break her own records and forget her defeats of the past. Pledging more men than either of the other two clubs in the past two years, her growth is also assured.

Another notable event in the life of Orion Club came in May, 1923, when Orion Club became the Delta Chapter of the National Webster Literary Society, enjoying through one of her members, the National Presidency for 1924, '25, '26.

The origin of the Webster Literary Society dates from 1868, when it was organized as a local campus literary society on the campus of the Kansas Agricultural College, Manhattan, Kansas. In January, 1871, Mr. C. O. Whedon, one of the charter members, secured the charter of the society and it became a definite entity. Largely through the efforts of Mr. Lawrence Whearty, the Society was united during the fall of 1921 with the Webster Literary Society of the University of Minnesota to form the National Webster Literary Society. Since its inception on the Kansas State Agricultural College campus, through its union with the University of Minnesota, the National Webster Literary Society now numbers four chapters, of which Purdue University is the Gamma Chapter and Park College the Delta Chapter.

We have our gaze steadfastly fixed on those things which are afar and beyond, and sincerely hope that the coming years will see Orion Club and National Webster Literary Society true to its ideals, and the exponent of progress.

"The Mattoon Mathematics Club" of Park College was organized in the fall of 1922, when a group of students aspiring to higher mathematical knowledge banded themselves together. The constitution was drawn up, the president elected and in a short time the club began its activities with great enthusiasm.

Early this year, the club adopted the name, "Mattoon Mathematics Club," in memory of Professor Mattoon, who for a number of years rendered great service as the head of the Mathematics department of Park College.

The chief feature of the club this year was the successful banquet which preceded an illustrated lecture on the "Growth of Algebraic Symbolism," by Professor N. G. Mitchell of Kansas University.

The active membership is restricted to those who are either majoring or minoring in Mathematics. The meetings are held every two weeks on Friday evenings. The topics discussed are those which ordinarily do not come up in the class work and yet have some connection with the regular class work. Some of the subjects that have been presented are: "History of Trigonometry," "Mathematical Antiquity," "History of Greek Geometry," and "Hyperbolic Functions."

With twenty-four enthusiastic members, the club may look forward to a great future. Steps have already been taken to establish a chapter of Pi Mu Epsilon Fraternity whose parent chapter is at Syracuse, New York.

The club owes its origin to Professor Wells, the present Mathematics professor, and is fortunate in having his co-operation and aid.

Le Cercle Francais was organized in 1921 under the direction of Dean Sanders and Miss Charlotte Chantrelle, with Jose Gallardo as its first president. The purpose of the club is to promote interest in French life and customs and to give students interested in French a practical opportunity to acquire a degree of fluency in speaking the language. During the three years of its existence, the club has presented publicly three plays: "La Poudre aux Yeux," "L'Anglais tel qu'on le Parle" and "La Surprise d'Isidor", all of which met with great success. During the present year, a number of interesting and instructive meetings have been held, following the plan which was outlined by the Administrative Council of the club at the beginning of the year. These programs have included French Music, French Art, a Trip to France, and others of a similar instructive character. We are fortunate in having Miss Wilson as sponsor for the club. Her interest and enthusiasm, and her intimate knowledge of things French have made her help an inspiration to the members.

Cosmopolitan Club

OFFICERS

ARAM RENGILIAN	President

The Cosmopolitan Club was organized May 18, 1909. At the time of its organization, it comprised representatives of fourteen nationalities. It was re-organized in December, 1921, and firmly established in the college and is acknowledged as one of the successful organizations of the campus, showing its vital interest in all activities and proving itself an active association. The local organization in December, 1909, sent two delegates to Ithaca, New York, to the third annual Association of Cosmopolitan Clubs. In the same year, two delegates were also sent to the fourth annual convention of A. C. C. at Urbana, Illinois. The club celebrated May 18, 1911, as Peace Day and the third Sunday of December as Peace Sunday.

The club has long realized that it is no longer in a constricted world, but in a universe whose dominant motive is Internationalism. The Cosmopolitans place "humanity above all nations," and have made this phrase their motto. Their chief aim is to bring about international friendship, the brotherhood of men, and the propagation of world peace.

Locally the club brings men of different nationalities into closer contact and trains them in literary work and in discussion of international problems.

The membership is made up of men of foreign birth, with the addition of an American membership limited to one-third the number of foreign students. An amendment added to the constitution of the club in January, 1924, extended the membership of American born students to one-half the number of foreign students. The constitution also provides for an honorary membership which is selected from the faculty.

PROFESSOR R. V. MAGERS.....Director
 MR. ROBERT SNYDER.....Manager

The Glee Club is the oldest organization on the campus, and holds the record for consistent leadership, having been under the direction of Professor Magers for the past twenty years. In January of 1923 the most extended trip in its history since the far-famed "California Trip." was taken, with an itinerary including Kirksville, Missouri; Fort Madison, Iowa; Monmouth, Galesburg, Bloomington and Chicago, Illinois, where the members were entertained at McCormick Seminary and sang for the sailors at the Great Lakes Naval Training Station. During the past year the club has sung at Tarkio and St. Joseph, in addition to a number of single concerts in the near vicinity. The personnel of the club is as follows: Professor Roy V. Magers, Director; Miss Ruth Harris, Accompanist; First Tenors, Roswell Combs, Willard Cowen, Marion Elliott, Alonzo Peeke; Second Tenors, William Walton, William Fleming, Wallace Wolverton, Fred Hall, Douglas Magers; Baritones, Le Roy Smith, Fred Helwig, Harold Harris, Donald Magers, Wilber Harper, Robert Snyder; Basses, William Jones, Mark Andrews, Arthur Shaw, Wallace Edgar, Joseph Hudson and Fred Kenower.

The Park-Lawrence Band proudly looks back upon its initial year, 1902, in which the late Mrs. G. A. Lawrence of Galesburg, Illinois, gave a beautiful set of musical instruments, and a standing treasury of five hundred dollars to the small struggling band of our school. This organization considers that in the year 1902 it was especially fortunate for at that time Claude Rader, a prominent violin soloist of Kansas City, agreed to take over its direction. From that day until this, the band of Park College has had as its most helpful friends, Mrs. Lawrence, whose name it bears, and Claude Rader.

The Park-Lawrence Band has a conspicuous and important function in the campus life. Pep programs, victory celebrations and "send-offs" are enlivened by the Band's call to "Rally 'round the Banner." Programs in Chapel, concerts in Parkville, the band and Orchestra Concert of the spring, and the annual parade of the Rotary Club of Kansas City on Boy's Day are all occasions for which the Park-Lawrence Band prepares each year.

At present a program is being arranged through the kindness of Mr. L. A. Messer, a graduate of Park and a member of the United States Internal Revenue Commission at Seattle, Washington, which provides for a tour of the Pacific by a part if not all of the band members during a future summer vacation.

This year the orchestra has tried to be of more service to the college than it has in the past. We have made it our policy to play for every Sunday School program, playing some special piece. We are called on in the spring of the year to play for the numerous plays that are given, and, in conjunction with the band, to give a concert on the evening of the 22nd of April.

We are under the direct supervision of Professor Claude O. Rader of Kansas City. A great deal of our success is due to his efforts. We rehearse for an hour every Monday and one night during each week.

We are indebted to Mrs. George A. Lawrence for many of the instruments.

FRED R. KENOWER.....	Secretary-Treasurer
W. MARION ELLIOTT.....	Chairman of Debate
EDWARD W. ZIEGLER.....	Chairman of Oratory
DR. WILLARD H. ROBINSON.....	Coach of Forensics

The Forensic Council has charge of intercollegiate debate and oratory at Park College. Its work is carried out under the supervision of the faculty committee on forensics, and in cooperation with the Park Chapter of Pi Kappa Delta. The Forensic Council is composed of the following members: a faculty advisor, one representative from the student body at large, one representative from each of the men's literary organizations, and the President of Pi Kappa Delta. The latter becomes President of the Forensic Council.

Debate and oratory have long occupied a place of prime importance among student activities at Park College. Park's record of 56 victories out of 78 men's debates in the last 28 years is sufficient to place her in the first rank among the schools engaging in intercollegiate forensics. It is the aim of the Forensic Council to maintain this high standard in debate and oratory at Park.

Pi Kappa Delta

OFFICERS

JOHN MOORE*President*
RUSSEL MCAFEE*Vice-President*
JUNE RICE*Secretary-Treasurer*

The fundamental aim of Pi Kappa Delta is to promote the best kind of forensic activities. Upon it rests the obligation of raising high standards and of maintaining worthy ideals; of promoting the spirit of fair play and broadmindedness in all forensic activities.

Pi Kappa Delta is not an old organization but it has accomplished much for Park forensics. A class has been organized so that members of the debate teams receive College credit for their work. Delegates were sent to the National Convention in the spring of 1922, '23, and '24.

Pi Kappa Delta has now taken over the work of the Forensic Council, and is recognized as one of the most active and growing organizations on the campus.

Pi Kappa Delta fosters friendly relations with other colleges. It sponsors a banquet twice a year to which near-by colleges send representatives at the invitation of the Park Chapter.

Dean W. F. Sanders is also an honorary member of Pi Kappa Delta.

Park's Debate Season, 1922-23

During the debating season of 1922-1923, the most extensive program ever arranged at Park was carried out very successfully. Sixteen men's decision debates resulted in twelve victories for Park.

The debate squad was fortunate in being under the supervision and direction of Professor H. B. Summers, Coach of Debate for the year 1922-1923.

Our Orators

The orators of Park have ever been of the highest type and have strongly contended for honors in the state and inter-state contests. Since 1890, about the date of the origin of the Oratorical Association, Park men have won a place in the state contests upon thirty-two occasions. First place has been awarded to a Park orator on eighteen of these occasions. Two of the five times that Park has placed in the inter-state contests have resulted in sweeping victories and big celebrations.

Although the past two years have not been quite so successful as many former years, Park still maintains her usual high standard by producing orators of genuine ability as shown in their style and content of their orations. As winner of the local Harry S. Jewett Oratorical Contest, Douglas Magers represented Park in the state contest held at Park March 12, 1924. By a splendid oration, "A Political Religion," and excellent delivery, "Twin" won third honors for himself and his Alma Mater from a closely contested field of participants. "Twin" has shown marked progress in oratorical prowess and were it not for his graduation this year we could expect added honors for the institution from him.

Park has reason to be proud of her representative orator in the state contest of 1923. The oration, "Inaction or Leadership," and the orator, Russell McAfee, combined against a strong field, won third place in the contest at Westminster. Russell also, by graduation, leaves a vacant place that will be difficult to fill.

Early in the year 1923, the old Peace Oratorical Contest, promoted by the Dunkards and Quakers, was revived in several states. By a preliminary contest Aram Renjilian was selected to represent Park in the state contest held at Park College, May 12, 1923. Aram produced a work of merit in his oration, "A New World Order," which won fourth place in the contest.

In the first divisional oratorical and debating contests conducted at the Central Province Pi Kappa Delta Convention at Fulton, Missouri, last year, Park men carried off first honors in three forensic fields,—Debate, oratory and extempore speaking. Kingsley Given, Park's Pi Kappa Delta orator, won the unanimous vote of three judges on his strong plea for law and order in his oration, "The Path of the Criminal." Edward Ziegler and John Moore won first and second places respectively in the extempore speaking contest.

The results of these contests have, as always, boosted the standards and strengthened the traditions of the College and have kept Park in the foreground of forensic activities throughout the Middle West.

Men's Debate Squad, 1923-1924

The Collegiate debate squad is composed of twelve men chosen at the beginning of the first semester by competition. The squad, under the direction of Dr. Willard H. Robinson, holds one regular class session each week during the first semester. In these meetings the fundamentals of debate are reviewed and the Pi Kappa Delta question for the year discussed. During the second semester three class periods are held each week at which briefs are constructed, and speeches revised and criticized. Intra-squad debates are also held during the second semester.

The success of the squad is due to the unceasing efforts and valuable direction of our coach, Dr. Robinson, and also to the remarkable cooperation existing between the various members of the squad.

Women's Debate Squad, 1921-1924

More interest than usual was shown in the women's debate try-out this year. It was held in the latter part of November. Out of nineteen women the following ten were chosen as members of the squad: June Rice, Senior, who has had three years of intercollegiate debating; Irene Schermerhorn, Senior, and Dorothy Davis, Junior, members of last year's squad; Irene Hudson, Senior; Iola Knacker, Junior; Katherine Blair and Margaret Crigler, Sophomores; Geraldine Gale, Mary Hartman and Barbara Firebaugh, Freshmen.

These women worked consistently and conscientiously and deserve credit for what they accomplished. Each Wednesday evening the squad met as a class and was conducted by Dr. W. H. Robinson, who was interested very much in women's debating and did a great deal to instill enthusiasm into the squad. Though the season was not very successful from the standpoint of decisions won, each member of the squad did her best.

The program for women's debate has never been as extensive at Park as the program for men's debate. There were four debates on the schedule for the year 1923-24.

The first debate was held in McCormick Chapel with Kansas State Agricultural College on March 15. Irene Schermerhorn, Mary Hartman and June Rice upheld the affirmative side of the question, "Resolved. That the United States Should Enter the League of Nations." Although this was a no-decision debate, there was a great deal of interest shown.

The second debate was one of the triangular series held with Pittsburg Teachers Training College and Ottawa University. The Park team, made up of Mary Hartman, Irene Schermerhorn and Iola Knacker, upheld the affirmative side of the question as stated above against Pittsburg Teachers Training College, March 24 in McCormick Chapel. Park lost a 2 to 1 decision.

June Rice, Irene Hudson and Barbara Firebaugh went to Ottawa, Kansas, for the only debate that was held away from Park. There the Park women again lost a 2 to 1 decision, debating the negative side of the question against Ottawa University.

The last debate was held in McCormick Chapel, April 11, with June Rice, Irene Schermerhorn and Mary Hartman representing Park against the College of Emporia. The decision of the judges was 2 to 1 for the College of Emporia.

For more than twenty years the two under-classes of the college have met annually in debate. The event is the crowning feature of the year and a climax to the various outbursts of enthusiasm from members of both classes. The donning of Frosh Caps and Ribbons and the appearance of mule barn decorations such as "Frosh Debate De(a)mons Will Win" are pleasant (?) harbingers of the approaching contest. Traditionally the Freshmen emerge victorious but a surprise is always possible.

The debate is an altogether wholesome outlet for class pep and enthusiasm and a stimulus for greater forensic activity.

Remarks from the Staff

To the old chieftain, Narva, we who are perpetuating his name through this, our work, send greetings. To the year 1924 we have brought the record of fifty years. May that record be pleasing to all who read herein.

To learn by experience is good; to learn by the experience of others is better. To this latter learning goes the credit for a good beginning, for our beginning was good. You for whom this work is done may now judge the final worth.

Though many changes occurred in the staff during its early days, the final roll numbered an efficient and co-operative group. Sacrifices of pleasure were often called for but were always cheerfully given.

In Miss Margaret Moore and Mr. William Clark the Academy had two hustlers who put their work across on time.

The members of the staff have enjoyed the interest and co-operation of all the branches of the Park Family and wish to show, through their finished work, their sincere appreciation.

The Stylus is the student paper which is published each Thursday at the College Printing Shop. The editor and business manager are elected by the student body at the beginning of the year. The Stylus is edited by the class in Journalism, which is taught by Miss Ethel E. Lyon. Each member of the class contributes to each week's issue and thus gains college credit for his training in journalistic work.

The staff has done very satisfactory work, having added several new features to the paper. It has maintained its position as a first-class college paper, truly representing the whole student body.

The Athletic Association is an organization whose purpose is to stage all inter-collegiate, inter-class and inter-club athletic contests. The members of the association are assigned to have full charge of the four sports which make up the athletic curriculum of the school. The association is composed of two members from each college literary organization, one from each academy club, and one faculty member as advisor.

Park's athletic program is growing each year and the work of the Athletic Association is steadily increasing. The 1923-1924 athletic program has been handled very efficiently.

Centers: George Fishburn, James Graham.

Guards: Richard Peak, William Kerr, Clarence Conklin, Joseph Meyer, Dallas McLaren, Lloyd Teter and McClelland Whitely.

Business Manager: Wilber Harper.

ALONZO PEEKE—Forward

A forward that kept his guard guessing. A man that could cover the court well and could not be guarded. He was the mainstay of the team. He is a senior and his shoes will be hard to fill next year.

RICHARD PEAK, CAPT.—Guard

Dick has piloted our team to success for the last two years. A hard fighter and plays for all he is worth. Plays running guard and covers the court in great style. He is a senior and will be a great loss to the team.

BRUCE DALLAM—Forward

The high point man of the team. He was always on the job and you could always count on Dallam. Played as though his life depended on it. He will pilot the team next year.

"BILL KERR"—Guard

Bill made his first appearance on the basketball court for Park this year. A clean player and one that could be depended upon. He is a freshman and has several more years in which to help us win the bacon.

JOE MEYER—Guard

The biggest man on the squad but his size did not interfere with his ability to play basketball. Could always be depended upon to keep his forward to a few goals.

WALLACE FILSON—Forward

"Fil" played a good consistent game and was always at the right place at the right time. It took a good guard to hold him to a few goals.

WILBUR ENNIS—Forward

He was little and fast. A man that could cover the court and rustle the ball. Lost out at the first of the season due to sickness, but certainly made up for lost time when he did get started.

GEORGE FISHBURN—Center

One of the "Human String Bean" variety and he could certainly jump. It was a good opponent that outjumped "Fish." He always came through with his share of the goals.

JAMES GRAHAM—Center

"Jimmie" could be used any place and always gave an excellent account of himself when given the chance. A hard player and one that did not quit until the final whistle.

The Cross-Country Race is a new event at Park, but will be an annual Thanksgiving Day event henceforth. The D. C. Douglas Cup, put up by D. C. Douglas, Superintendent of the College Water and Heating Systems, will go to the club which wins the event four times. The order in which the men place in the race determines the number of points which each five-man team makes. Thus the team with the lowest number of points is winner.

WOODWARD DORMITORY FOR ACADEMY MEN

Constructed from material taken from "Old College Building"

Park College Academy

FOR ten years after it was founded Park College existed without an Academy. In 1885 the Academy was established to prepare students for entrance into Park College. At that time there were very few high schools or preparatory schools in this section of the country.

The course of study which was very elementary then has gradually been changed to a regular high school course. For the past ten years Park College Academy has been accredited by the State University and the North Central Association.

The teaching force of the Academy is composed of three heads of departments and a corps of senior practice teachers under the supervision of the principal, Miss Harrison.

Woodward is the only dormitory in which the Academy boys live. The Academy girls make their homes in the college girls' dormitories. A large number of the students, however, come from their homes in the village.

Although the Academy is not very large, it affords great opportunity for the personal development of the students. Aside from the classroom duties, the students have the opportunity to enter athletics, which include basketball and field sports. Besides this the students carry on debates with other high schools and enter into other literary contests. To develop the social as well as the literary part of their training the students have four academy literary clubs.

THE CLASS OF 1924

It was a clear September day; the sun shone brightly on the long road which stretched like a white, dusty ribbon on to the horizon as out of the cool shadows of the trees by the wayside there stepped a young knight, resplendent in the glory of new armor, proudly,—leading his horse and carrying his spear with a lordly grace. The cool shade and velvety grass invited, but the call of the road was imperative, so he mounted and rode slowly away. For some distance the highway was deserted and he saw no one save himself. But as he neared the first crossroads, he saw another knight riding toward him. They met and after lowering their spears in salute the stranger asked:

"Who art thou, my good sir?"

The young knight bowed, "I am the spirit of '24. And thou?"

"My name is Success. I will go with you," the other answered.

For many leagues they rode together, Success never leaving the side of the young knight. Often times, along the road, the older knight would stop and raise a stone, or make a blaze to mark their passing. On one of these stones he would carve, "Basketball," on another "Debates," while others read "Oratory," "Track etc.

At length, one day as the sun was gradually sinking and the long road stretched ahead but dimly into the veils of the twilight, the two knights, worn and tired from their traveling, saw the form of a young and beautiful woman coming toward them out of the sunset.

She was a maiden fair to behold. She bore a crown of laurel and a shining shield; the sunlight playing on the shield and on her golden hair touched off a wonderful picture.

As she advanced toward the wayfarers, she stopped and began to speak in a low, soft, musical voice.

"I am the spirit of Fame, and I have come to meet you. You have accomplished much and I shall reward you. Take then, this symbol, the laurel and the shield of the victor."

And they passed down the road into the sunset. In the center, the young knight '24, beside him, his comrade, the older knight, Success, and the young and beautiful woman, the spirit of Fame.

The third year class has an enrollment of twenty-three members. The majority of the students live in Parkville. The minority, however, come from all parts of the United States.

The members of the class are very ambitious and alert and a great deal is expected of them if they continue to keep their past record.

Last spring there graduated from the village school a remarkable group of young people, seventeen of which entered the first year class of the academy at the beginning of last school year. Three other students, coming from different parts of the states, were added to the list and there is now an enrollment of twenty.

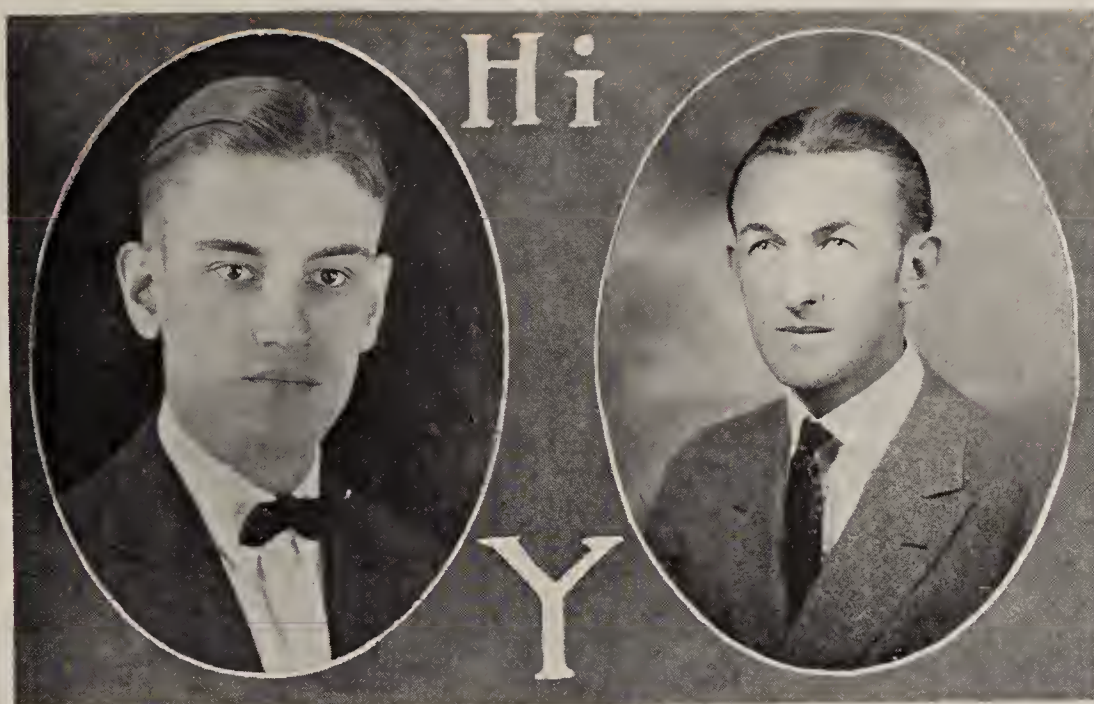

It is an organized class and though it is small the members believe in doing things the right way.

Hi-Y

THE Park Academy Hi-Y was established September 28, 1921, at an evening meeting of the Y. M. C. A. on Observatory Hill. The purpose of the Hi-Y organization is to take the place of the Y. M. C. A. in the life of the academy young men by promoting the principles of clean habits, clean speech, and clean sports. These principles have been carried out consistently through the co-operation of the faculty members, the college Y. M. C. A., and the members of the organization itself. The meetings are held every two weeks in Woodward parlor on Wednesday evenings at seven-fifteen. The Hi-Y organization is fortunate in obtaining speakers such as members of the administration and prominent speakers interested in young men's Christian work. The interest that the twenty-four members have, shown in the organization this year indicates that the Hi-Y is an important factor in the religious life of the campus.

Philomathian Club was organized almost ten years ago by a group of girls in the Park Academy who sought to promote further literary interest. From that time this club has grown and prospered, trying its best to co-operate with its brother club, Philolexian, in every possible way.

The programs of the society are varied. Sometimes there are plays and again there are readings and music. All these things give the girls practice in literary and musical expression.

Every year Philomathian adds new members to her ranks who are eager to make the club grow stronger in every way and to uphold the Banner of the Black and Orange forever.

The Alumni of Philo Club have borne witness to their training by taking a leading part in all student activities in the college.

Leantikion Club, since its organization in 1914, has had a varied history. In the beginning it had a strong membership and maintained a highly creditable record. Later, on account of the decrease in the enrollment of the Academy and the handicap of not having a hall Leantikion declined in membership and passed through a trying time. But loyalty and determination won and Leantikion again became a strong, successful organization. During the year 1923-24 the club has done particularly fine work, has put on some very successful programs and has maintained a high standard in all its activities.

Andrion Club was organized in 1914 under the direction of Carl W. Guise, Principal of the Academy, for the purpose of promoting literary, forensic, and athletic activities among the Academy boys.

For a number of years Andrion and Leantikon clubs were handicapped by not having a club hall. In 1922 after persistent efforts a room in Labor Hall was secured. The redecoration and furnishing of this room was made possible by the loyal service of club members and by the generous contribution from the Faculty Woman's Club.

Andrion Club has maintained a highly creditable record especially in debate. For the past two years the club has taken the lead in athletics.

Andrion-Philo Basketball

1923-24

As soon as the scholastic work of the academy was under way and the club sign-up was over, the clubs turned their thoughts to the first sport of the season, namely basketball. Both of the clubs practiced steadily and consistently throughout the season. As a result the games were very interesting and close. The Andrions, however, proved themselves to be the superior team and won three out of a series of five games.

1922-23

In a series of five games the Andrions won the championship for 1922-23. This was a real accomplishment for the Andrion club, because they broke the precedent that had been established and maintained by the Philo Club for a number of years.

BASKETBALL CHAMPS.

CROSS COUNTRY WINNERS

Andrion-Philo Baseball

The baseball series of 1923 between the Andrion and Philo Clubs was the most interesting and closely contested that we have witnessed for some years. The Philos won the first of a three game series. After a hard fight the Andrions won the second game. By steady, consistent playing the Philos won the third game, thereby defeating their opponents in the series.

Academy Cross Country

In the school year 1922-23, Mr. D. C. Douglas planned a cross country race to be held between the College Clubs. He organized and coached the teams, thereby making the sport a favorite among the student body. The meet is held on Thanksgiving Day, and the men run on a three mile course through the college lands.

This fall the academy clubs asked permission to enter this race. The permission was graciously granted. Professor Teener has very kindly offered a silver loving cup to the academy club winning the race for three consecutive years.

The cup is now in the hands of the Andrion club as a result of their winning the race this year. The length of the run was three miles. The time was 22 minutes and 47 seconds.

Half the pleasure of a Visit to Kansas City

MOST every student in PARK looks forward to an occasional trip to Kansas City and to the joy of attending the theatres, stopping at our fine hotels, and visiting our splendid restaurants.

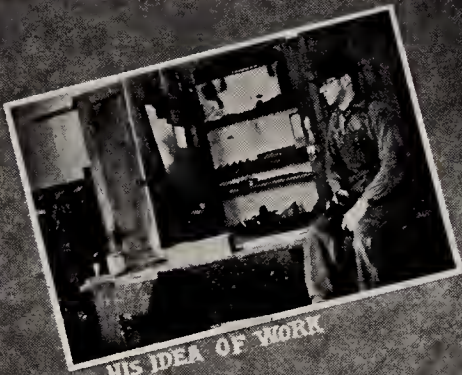

A visit to Kansas City is never complete without dining in the Myron Green Cafeterias, for that is half the pleasure of a trip here, for the fame of the Myron Green for exceptional good cooking has spread far and near. You'll naturally feel at home, because my cooking is done by real housewives, just like yours at home.

In the morning you can get the most delicious waffles you ever ate, and our own woman-made fresh pork sausage, or almost anything else you want.

If you'll dine with me the first trip here, I know you will the next time you come.
